

EDITORIAL

Dear Readers,

This issue is the first issue of the journal that has published all articles in English according to the journal new policy. The journal aims to improve the quality and to increase visibility to all readers. The final goal of the journal is to be indexed in international index databases. Professor Kesara Na-Bangchang is going to be the Editor-in-Chief of the new editorial team. I would like to thank the current editorial board and all the reviewers for being a great team during the past years. Some of us continue to work with the new teams. However, the journal website and manuscript submission remain unchanged. Please continue to publish more of your works with us.

Assoc. Prof. Dr. Rattima Jeenapongsa
Editor-in-Chief